

Dr David
Bradshaw

Dr David Bradshaw BAppSc (Phty) MBBS (Hons) FAOrthA FRACS is a Sydney trained specialist orthopaedic surgeon with advanced training in hand and wrist surgery. After completing his medical degree with Honours at the University of Sydney, he completed his specialist orthopaedic training through the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons and the Australian Orthopaedic Association.

Dr Bradshaw completed advanced training in hand, wrist and peripheral microsurgery through highly specialised hand surgery centres, including as the Fellow at the St Luke's and Sydney Hospital Hand Units and South Western Sydney Hand Centre. He holds formal qualifications in hand surgery through the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons and Australian Hand Surgery Society's post-fellowship education and training program in hand surgery.

In addition to his orthopaedic appointments at Central Coast hospitals, Dr Bradshaw is a consultant hand and microsurgeon at a major Sydney metropolitan hand unit, where he performs major and complex reconstructive procedures for severe hand injuries.

Dr Bradshaw's specialised area of interest is hand and wrist surgery, including microsurgery and arthroscopy, with a focus on minimally-invasive techniques such as endoscopic carpal tunnel release surgery to potentiate rapid recovery after surgery. His comprehensive Central Coast practice also includes joint replacement, trauma and fracture management.

Dr Bradshaw is a Fellow of the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons, Fellow of the Australian Orthopaedic Association, Member of the Australian Medical Association, and Member of the Australian Hand Surgery Society. He is the Australian Orthopaedic Association Director of Training for the Central Coast.

Dr Bradshaw aims to provide high level, accessible and timely expertise to the Central Coast. He consults at Gosford Private Consulting Suites and Tuggerah Lakes Private Hospital. Appointments are available via Central Coast Orthopaedics, and he is also available to provide phone or email advice to his medical and allied health colleagues.
